service, which fact would be of no material consequence if the system was otherwise in proper condition, but as it is with so much slack wire it is unsafe.

In view of the fact that the power house is so far distant from the centre of distribution, we would recommend that one or two central points be selected and distributing boards fitted with safety devices placed thereat, and from them run several circuits dividing the City into as many sections. Then should trouble occur in any section it would not be necessary to close down the plant, as the section in trouble would merely cut itself out and allow the machines to run, lighting the rest of the city without extra risk on account of the one section being out. This has been done to a certain extent but we recommend subdivision of some of the circuits where they are far reaching.

A plan has been devised by the Superintendent for putting all wires now in and around the Executive and Judiciary buildings under ground, which we heartily commend, providing proper ducts are used, indeed under ground would be the place for all wires, were it not for the factor of cost having to be taken into consideration.

In our opinion all the business thoroughfares of the City should have their wires restrung, not permitting sag to exceed one per cent. and on every corner new poles at least forty feet long should be placed and as fast as convenient all intermediate poles should be replaced with ones of equal height. This would carry the wires about thirty three or four feet above the ground, which would necessitate far less tree trimming than is required at the present time, which alone should be sufficient reason for elevating them, not to mention the greater advantage of having the wire above the foliage, thus overcoming the liability of branches drooping on them, causing short circuits.

We would also suggest that iron insulator pins be used at least on all corner poles, and all new insulators to be of the kind known as double petticoat, deep groove, weighing about three and one half pounds each. The present ones we should use on secondary wiring, as the voltage of it is not so great as other the primary or arc lighting wires.

We would also recommend the use of safety hooks on all cross arms of corner poles or where wires turn off a straight line at Reefton, New Zealand, Nov. 23, 1896.

I am very pleased to state that since I took the agency of Chamberlain's medicines the sale has been very large, more especially of the Cough Remedy. In two years I have sold more of this particular remedy than of all other makes for the previous five years. As to its efficacy, I have been informed by scores of persons of the good results they have received from it, and know its value from the use of it in my own household. It is so pleasant to take that we have to place the bottle beyond the reach of the children.
